

The FALO Chronicle

1995

Pennd by Cygnus, Blue Star Mage

1995, January 7

FALO holds its eighth annual Yule gather, total gather number sixty-two, at the Tontine Pact. Granarinth and Vflarian receive their Moonstones. A long meeting is held to discuss many important topics. Maya's baby griffon, Tanj, learns how to play sparklies. Hoot brings a basket of scrolls -- Spell or Sparklie. Many are enspelled, a few get sparklies. Starshadow's spirit leech is removed and put into Arëanna's Tanro staff, warded by Arëanna's and Rook's magic. The staff's head shatters but the leech is held intact.

1995, February 18

FALO gather number sixty-three, held at the Tontine Pact. Caitlin receives her Welcome stone, bringing the clan's membership to 30 active members. A four hour sparklie game is held, Springfest is announced and work shifts are organized, meal is a semi-potluck, Tallpine cooking the main dish with clanmembers bringing side dishes, desserts, etc. Trivendyr are guests. A vote is taken and it is decided to remove the long standing law of FALO that states a member may not belong to another fantasy role-playing group, as long as loyalty remains with FALO.

1995, April 22

FALO holds gather number sixty-four at the home of Vflarian. Aranek gets his Moonstone, and Cassius Aurelius leaves FALO. FALO now numbers 29 active members. A fairy tree dispenses gifts and minor curses; Kyara quits the dragon priesthood when Elowyn Ka sends a derogatory scroll to her. Arëanna and Cygnus transfer the spirit leech from Arë's Tanro staff to a unique box (the final form of the mysterious polymorphing magic item), which also contains the soul of Mordwyn, the sorceress that almost killed Starshadow. Master Coll then takes the box to his citadel for safe keeping.

1995, June 3

FALO's Springfest returns to Camp Glenn Gray in northern New Jersey. This is the eighth annual Springfest (gather number sixty-five), and the weather is hot, but an evening thunderstorm during the evening's entertainment cools things considerably. The unseele faye attempt to spoil the fest once again, but are repulsed by Cygnus, Arëanna and Rook. The townsfolk of Trivendyr run the games this year, a rat pucking tournament is held, and Nightbringer's information quest brings to light many questions and answers about clanmembers. Kobolds demonstrate their singing voices at the Mushroom theater, which is open to all. Evening's entertainment includes the Enter Your Keep song expanded into a skit by Kyara, dances by Willow and Kittarina, songs by Angelica, Aria, Starshadow, Hoot and Brother Bartholomew. Tourney winners are: archery - Starshadow, boffer - Teil, rat pucking - Cygnus, knife toss - Feanor, axe throw - Wolfgar.

1995, July

A missive from the Elders announces that due to the business of the summer season, there will be no FALO mundane gather this year.

1995 August

Arowolf leaves FALO for personal reasons. This brings FALO membership to 28 active members.

1995, October 21

FALO holds its sixty-sixth gather at the Fairy Ring Tavern (the home of Starshadow and Arëanna). It rains all day and most of the night. Dar passes out lupie eggs, Angelica arrives wounded in the foot, new friends Barret Scatterleaf and Gwendolyn Maythorne attend (remember Puck & Cathes?), an adventure is planned to retrieve Starshadow's Elfstone. The Mayfest and the FALO live game project are discussed.

1995, November 11

FALO gather number sixty-seven is held, at the home of Brianna and Bear. Torrential rains and heavy winds chase away the electric elementals, Indigo fights a red cap, ChilDra gets her wings plucked. Cygnus announces that he and his lady love Skye are leaving on a long adventure and may not be attending gathers much anymore. It is announced that Morganna has left the clan, thus making the total of active clan members 27, with two honorary members (Alfgar and Elowyn Ka).

1995, December

Cygnus and Starshadow discuss the FALO Chronicles and make the following mutual decision. Since Cygnus will be away and Starshadow is Editor of the Daoine Sidhe, the FALO Chronicles will now be written by Starshadow, to continue the tradition that Cygnus started.
